Art Unit: 1797

Claims 35-38 and 43-57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claims 35, 56, and 57 “THP+” is vague and indefinite because it is unclear how this term further limits the claims. It is suggested that applicants amend the claims to recite – tetrakis (hydroxyorgano) phosphonium (THP+) as described on page 1 of the instant specification, to overcome this rejection. Claims 36-38 and 43-55 depend from claim 35.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 35-38 and 43-55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fidoe et al. 6,926,836 in view of Funkhouser et al. 6,192,987. Fidoe et al. disclose (see col. 1 line 11 through col. 7 line 50) a method for the treatment of an aqueous system substantially as claimed. The claims differ from Fidoe et al. by reciting that the formulation includes a specific alcohol having an acetylenic bond in the carbon backbone. Funkhouser et al. disclose (see col. 3 line 40 through col. 6 line 10) that it is known in the art to utilize the recited alcohol to aid in inhibiting corrosion on metal surfaces in contact with iron sulfide precipitates. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the method of Fidoe et al. by including the recited alcohol in the formulation in view of the teachings of Funkhouser et al., to aid in inhibiting corrosion in the aqueous system. The specific ratios utilized, would have been an obvious matter of process optimization to one skilled in the art, depending on the specific system treated and results desired, absent a sufficient showing of unexpected results.

Claims 56 and 57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fidoe et al. 6,926,836 in view of Davis et al. 5,606,105. Fidoe et al. disclose (see col. 1 line 11 through col. 7 line 50) a method for the treatment of an aqueous system substantially as claimed. The claims differ from Fidoe et al. by reciting that the formulation includes a reaction product of the salt and a specific alcohol having an acetylenic bond in the carbon backbone. Davis et al. disclose (see col. 3 line 35 through col. 6 line 47) that it is known in the art to react phosphite or phosphonium salts and the recited alcohol, to form a reaction product including phosphonate compounds or oligomers for inhibiting scale and corrosion in aqueous systems. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the method of Fidoe et al. by including the recited reaction product in the formulation in view of the teachings of Davis et al., to aid in inhibiting scale and corrosion in the aqueous system. The specific ratios utilized, would have been an obvious matter of process optimization to one skilled in the art, depending on the specific system treated and results desired, absent a sufficient showing of unexpected results.

Applicants' election with traverse of Group II Claims 35-38 is acknowledged. The traversal is base on assertions why the claims of Groups I and II should be properly examined together. This is not found persuasive since Group I nonelected claims 39-42, have been canceled. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
